Avatar - an airline like no other

Avatar's business plan is unique, incorporating six individual profit centers in conjunction with the exclusive use of the Boeing 747 aircraft equipped with 539 economy seats and 42 business class seats, resulting in the industry's lowest cost per seat mile.

This allows Avatar to offer everyday fares between $19 to $99, depending on the destination and time of purchase.

Avatar profit centers include:

- a Passenger Ticketing
- a Cargo
- a Catering
- a In-flight Entertainment
- a Advertising & Promotions (Branding)
- a Avatar Vacations

Each center is responsible for earning a profit, combined they are responsible for lowering Avatar's cost per available seat mile resulting in a cost expected to be the lowest in the industry.

It's simple: Big airplanes carrying maximum number of seats combined with fares which are low enough and markets which are large enough to guarantee 100% load factors.

"...millions of consumers in Japan have signed up to receive mobile alerts from McDonald's, which provide tailored messages that include discount coupons, contests opportunities, special- event invitations, and other unique, brand-specific content".

Harvard Business Review

December 2010

"It's a captive audience, literally and sometimes involuntarily for an extended period of time, so there are certainly opportunities to make contact (with potential consumers) in-flight."
